Adam Bjornson

adambjornson.com
adam@adambjornson.com linkedin.com/in/adambjornson stackoverflow.com/story/adambjornson

Overview

Personable, adaptable, and detail-oriented, with a broad skillset.
Enjoys creative and technical challenges, and helping define and refine products, services, standards, and workflows with a focus on automation and usability.

Education

Multimedia and Web Design BS, Art Institutes International MN
Visualization Technology AAS, Saint Paul College
Graphic Design Diploma, Saint Paul College
General Education Diploma, Humboldt High School

Experience

Designer, Display Ads Products, CDK Global Played several essential roles in the production and maintenance of key platforms and deliverables. Produced content for dynamic, interactive Flash and HTML ads, and developed complex libraries and automation tools for in-house use. 2008 to 2016

Interactive Developer, Pixel Farm Interactive Produced interactive pieces for CD-ROM and web delivery, with occasional print work. Focus on Flash development and UX. 2006 to 2008

Designer and Programmer, Freelance Designed websites, logos, stationery, and other creative for a wide range of commercial and non-profit individuals and organizations including the American Red Cross and SAVE. Active user of StackOverflow, with a reach of 2M people and a top 3% yearly rep. 2004 to 2008 and later

Skills

Hardware and Software Experience
Well-versed in HTML, CSS, JS, JSON, PHP, SQL, BASIC, RegEx, and Shell.
Highly skilled at front- and back-end web design and development, and with standard industry tools such as Adobe CS, Office, Mac OS, and Windows